

Wheeling Meet Draws 3 GOP Governor Hopefuls

BY RICHARD CRABS

Richard A. Carver of Arlington Heights presided over the first state candidates night to be sponsored by Wheeling Township Republicans and the first event of its kind to be held in Illinois during the 1968 campaign.

Wheeling Township Republican entertained three of the four candidates for the party's nomination for governor of Illinois and the only declared candidate for lieutenant governor Friday evening at the Old Orchard Country Club. The event was attended by a crowd of 250 persons.

Appearing on the open platform were John H. Abner of Peoria, who came out for governor Dec. 2, Sen. Arthur Gotthalk of Peoria, who announced his candidacy for governor Jan. 15, and former Gov. William G. Stratton who announced Dec. 27 he would seek another term as governor.

The only GOP hopeful not present was Richard B. Ogilvie, president of the Cook County Board of Supervisors. Also present at the candidates night was Robert A. Dwyer of Winnetka who declared himself for lieutenant governor Dec. 12.

THIS WAS the first time Wheeling Township Republicans have sponsored candidates night for the Republicans seeking state office in Illinois. It was also the first event of its kind to be held in Illinois in the 1968 campaign.

State Rep. Eugene F. Schickman of Arlington Heights, who also is Republican commissioner in Wheeling Township, opened the program by explaining that the holding of candidates night is the first step leading to an effort to endorse specific candidates for state offices. A second candidates night, Schickman said, will be held Feb. 16 at the Holiday Inn at Rolling Meadows.

All the second candidates night GOP leaders seeking the office of secretary of state and state auditor will appear.

Because he could not be present at the first candidates night, Ogilvie, who announced his candidacy for governor Dec. 6, will meet with Wheeling Township Republicans.

AFTER THE personal appearance of the candidates, the members of the Wheeling Township Regular Republican Organization

Teenagers in Arlington Heights didn't want to get arrested Saturday night. Three of them tried too hard and now court appearances for missing curfew are in the air.

On Jan. 26, two officers of the Arlington Heights Police Department completed door-to-door canvass of more than 25 homes along Ridge and Fernside Sts.

Griffin said the results of the survey did not warrant an official statement of opinion of his group. At this time Griffin said they received 25 favorable responses.

THE VACATION of the street has been proposed in connection with a plan to construct a new road for the corridor past Arlington Heights Park. The plan of the pool may be included in the spring referendum of the city districts. The Board of Education of District 24 has indicated a willingness to co-operate to the project.

After the results of the survey were published in The Dring, Griffin said he heard from other residents. The thought a more thorough survey should be taken.

The new survey, expected to be distributed Saturday, will be a questionnaire-type. "We have decided to take a cold, clean look at the situation and try to determine which way the entire neighborhood is leaning," Griffin said.

He said the questionnaires would be distributed by the Arlington Heights Police Department.

THESE ARE a approximately 250 homes in the Ridge Park area, which is bounded by Wilke Rd., Oakton St., Northwest Hwy. and Ridge Park.

For several months, the proposed widening pool has been a major topic of discussion by the park board, the Board of Education, the village trustees, and other taxing bodies of Arlington Heights.

The west side of Arlington Heights has been proposed as the site for the pool. It is the opinion of the school and park boards members that the pool be a community facility. It also would be used for park district recreation program and for physical education programs of the high school district.

The school district also includes Forest View, Forest View, Winfield, Elm Grove and John Henry high schools — all without swimming pools.

Click trees Keep Policemen Moving

BY TED LACEY

How often you spread a policeman? Rolling Meadows Police Officer Dennis Van Jacobs knows. Last Friday morning, while on a single 20-minute interval, he handled five police incidents.

The pavement was particularly dry that morning Van Jacobs said, causing cars to skid frequently. Consequently every policeman dispatched to the scene of his hands full taking care of the accidents.

First, at 7:55 a.m. he was assigned to check out a collision with injuries reported on Euclid Ave. at Rollingwood Rd. On way he was stopped by a car on Algonquin Rd. at 31. 35. It was minor and didn't require a police report. The driver involved said they would handle the matter themselves, as Van Jacobs remarked on to his official destination.

On arriving he learned that Terrance Wade, 27, of Palatine apparently couldn't stop the intersection and crashed the car at Algonquin and Euclid, at 910 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights, according to police.

SEE COMPLAINED of a sore neck, so was sent to Northwestern Community Hospital for treatment. Later she was released.

Wade was ticketed for failure to stop for a stop sign and for driving too fast for conditions.

But before Van Jacobs could finish all the paperwork he had to stop his radio to look into an accident with injuries at Arlington Heights. While he was still at the scene, The Arlington police were so busy covering other accidents that he had to call for help. Van Jacobs said.

He hustled his squad over to the next accident. As soon as he got out of the car he realized still another call, telling him to handle an accident back in Rolling Meadows on Euclid. 150 feet west of Wilke. He whistled the car off the road and drove to the scene. The way the car was parked there were no serious injuries. He notified the Arlington Police that he had to get back into home territory, and berated to the last policeman.

There Margaret M. O'Grady, 16, of Palatine and Margaret Neumann, 25, of 3408 W. Campbell, Rolling Meadows had collided.

Moments thereafter Robert B. Anderson, 23, of Lake Zurich, Ill., stopped behind the cars, unable to get around them. As they would have it, June C. Orlson, 34, of 2102 Centennial Dr.,

Rolling Meadows plowed her car into Anderson's car from behind.

BOTH MRS. O'Grady and Anderson's passenger Shanon Anderson complained of sore necks so they went to Northwestern Community Hospital where they were treated and released. Van Jacobs cut back to the scene of the first accident. He had to finish the paperwork, leaving Officers Ron Haines and Thomas Yarns to direct traffic around the last pile-up.

Afterwards, returning to the four damaged cars on Wilke, he talked out Mrs. M. O'Grady for injuries to reduce speed. Miss Neumann for improper lane usage, and Miss Orlson for failure to reduce speed.

"Luckily all the injuries were less serious ones," Van Jacobs said. "But all those accidents really kept me hopping."

To sign up for ailing issues just before all the more useful.

Dialogue

...with George Hamilton

"Tell me something, Lightfoot—why in the world would the North Koreans WANT a PUEBLO?"

"Did you hear about the new lawsuit which contends it is unconstitutional for people in the suburbs to spend more money than the people in the city for the education of their children?"

"The what?"

"It happened in Detroit. The school board there has filed a suit against the state, claiming that, because people in some communities in the state have better schools, it is a violation of the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution."

"Don't they know that people in each community vote on the tax referendum as to whether they want to pay more money for better schools?"

"Yes, they do, but they insist this is violating the 14th Amendment, which says no state may make laws which deny any person equal protection of its laws."

"Well, that sounds silly to me."

"You're not the only one who thinks so. One who, in effect, has said that is Prof. Philip B. Kurland of the University of Chicago Law School. Prof. Kurland thinks the matter is too complicated for the courts to take up."

"The professor and others also feel that the courts agree with the Detroit School Board. It will ruin the public school system."

"It may be would, I certainly wouldn't want to spend more of my money on schools here if the court says by doing so."

"Well, if the court decides for the Detroit School Board, it just could happen here, also. It is reported that Chicago Schools Superintendent James F. Hendon has suggested the State of Illinois file a similar complaint in a suit against the State of Illinois."

"Why would they do that?"

"Their idea seems to be that if people in the suburbs are willing to spend so much money to educate their own children, they should be glad to do the same for other children. What they say is all after is to have the state take all the school taxes from each district and distribute the money equally to each district in the state."

"It would be best for all of us to vote down every school tax referendum if they did that, because it would mean the state would have to give us what we needed no matter whether we wanted to pay for it or not."

"I'm sure. Maybe though, everyone here has been going the wrong way. It seems the most effective way to get something done is to say it is to claim your Constitutional rights are being violated."

"If we all invoked the 14th Amendment, then you see within a year we would have proper drainage, more parks, no vandalism, no traffic jams, no more expressways and interstates, no more crime, everything we ever wanted but couldn't get."

"Yes, but how would the state pay for all that?"

"I don't know. Maybe with the revenue from night racing at Arlington Park."

Day Light

BY RICHARD CRABB

The candidates night held Friday evening at Old Orchard Country Club by the Whiting Township Republican organizations was the first of its kind. It was also the first held anywhere in the state since the year 1968 election.

The state candidates were unanimous in their praise of the event. The audience was highly responsive.

There are certain to be more candidates in future years in Whiting Township. The event may also become a precedent.

STATE REP. Eugene F.

Schickman of Arlington Heights, and Whiting Township Republican Committee, granted the event as an important educational opportunity in current political development.

Schickman put his finger on the event's most unique feature: the candidate night brought together the vast experience of the state candidates on a number of subjects and provided voters with an overall view that might not have come to light during the entire campaign.

A key example of the candidate night's great value was to be found in the discussion on the proposed holding of a convention to rewrite the state constitution. Rep. Gottschalk of Plouffe had the courtesy to lay the entire matter of effort put behind the issue by the organizations interested in progressive government.

Gov. Keener uses the prestige of his office aggressively to develop public understanding and a desire for a constitutional convention. The matter is not going to be approved in November.

(The General Assembly passed a resolution placing the matter of holding a constitutional convention on the ballot next November. Unless a majority of the voters favor holding the convention, it will not be called.)

WHILE OTHER candidates, particularly Robert A. Dwyer who is running for lieutenant governor, strongly endorsed the idea of rewriting the Illinois constitution, every state candidate at Old Orchard agreed that the matter is already "dead" unless there is a concerted effort put behind it before election day in November.

There was some commentary on the problem involved in securing the promulgation of a constitutional convention.

Gottschalk told the audience that "Gov. Keener has decided to withhold his active support because labor groups in Illinois are opposed to rewriting the state constitution."

Rain, Fog Didn't Faze February Flair Hat Show

The romantic look...but this time it's from yesterday, not 1968. Modeled by Mrs. Randolph Schneider of Rolling Meadows at the Spring Surprize Hat Show.

BY MARILYN HELFERS
Woolen and hats are attracted by a mysterious force definitely not affected by weather conditions. In fact, as the weather gets worse the attraction becomes stronger.

The afternoon show of the 7th District Junior 9th. annual February Flair hat show at Old Orchard Country Club attracted about 200 women. But as the rain and fog increased so did the evening's attendance.

More than 600 women attended the 9:30 showings. "The evening crowd was even more than standing room on," said Mrs. Robert Fletcher, chairman. "We think we'll probably raise a total of $3,000 for the Clearbrook Center for the Retarded and the Northwest Mental Health Association."

The military was interspersed with Lynn O'Connell's collection of fashions of the '20s and '30s. Amazingly enough these fashions of yesterday looked like the mini and midi fashions of 1968...with a few minor exceptions.

After the show the ladies were invited to try on hats to their heart's content...and maybe even buy one.

JUNIOR CLUB chairmen who worked hard to produce the successful show included: Mrs. Robert Fletcher, Arlington Heights 7th District Ways and Means; Mrs. Torian Carlson, Des Plaines; and door prizes, Mrs. Arnold Shaw, Elk Grove, Ill.; Mrs. Kenneth Gierke, Alton; Mrs. Raymond Spletzer, Wheeling; Mrs. William E. Lindsey, Menard Park; program books, Mrs. Frank Regan, Arlington Heights; decorations, Mrs. Donald Loew, Mount Prospect; models, Mrs. Rudolph Schneider, Rolling Meadows; special invitations, Mrs. John Brandenburg, Schaumburg; and Mrs. Daniel Pearce, Streamwood, Ill.

Special guest models were Mrs. Harry E. Toiv, Park Ridge Women's Club; Mrs. Raymond G. Wood, Edison Park Women's Club; Mrs. Robert Wright, Prospect Heights Women's Club; Mrs. Robert Felt, Edin Park Women's Club; Mrs. Bea F. Carr, president 7th Dist. — Arlington Heights Women's Club; Mrs. Raymond Spletzer, Wheeling Women's Club; Mrs. C. B. Shaffer, Mount Prospect Women's Club; Mrs. Gordon G. Carlson, Arlington Heights Women's Club.

Other models were members from the 10 Seventh Dist. Junior Women's Clubs: Mrs. Melvin Levers, Mrs. Raymond Becker; Mrs. Robert Byrne, Mrs. L. M. Hollingsworth; Mrs. Felix Sullivan; Mrs. Frank Baker; Mrs. Robert Felt; Mrs. David Bushnell; Mrs. J. C. Paulson; Mrs. Harold Thompson; Mrs. Ronald Roberts; Mrs. William Barrow; Mrs. John Hembling; Mrs. Frank Sullivan; Mrs. Roy Dalen; Mrs. John LaFare; Mrs. Frank Sullivan Jr.; Mrs. Gordon Vasudeval; Mrs. Steve Soto; Mrs. Stanley Shauer; Mrs. Robert Band; Mrs. Larry Kellerman; Mrs. Donald Butz; Mrs. Arthur Wagner; Mrs. William Steger; Mrs. Robert Burke; Mrs. Dale DeVille; Mrs. William Whelan; Mrs. Warren James; Mrs. Daniel Pearce; Mrs. Julian Benjamin; Mrs. James Asher; Mrs. Sanford Tyeer; Mrs. Raymond Spletzer.

Hats are on parade...as models from the Seventh District Junior Women's Club line up for their 9th annual hat show at Old Orchard Country Club.

estimated cost of $120,000. The design is contemporary and in harmony with existing buildings.

The expansion program is planned in the 10th anniversary year of the church.

Regionals Make Knight-Cat Rematch Possibility

The Illinois state basketball tournament regional pairings released this morning suggest that a Prospect-Wheeling rematch is still a possibility.

Both schools, tied in the Mid-Suburban League lead after a Wildcat win over the Knights Saturday, will be in the regional, which begins March 4 and ends March 6.

AND KNIGHT coach Dick Kinnaman said he was not surprised for the Prospect regional, but he was a bit disappointed for the Knights. "We'll get a real break," Kinnaman said. "There are a lot of good teams in the regionals, but we'll take on the best of them."

Prospect, seeded second among the regional's eight teams, will open against book South and if they win, will take on the winner of the Coon-Fore View game.

MAINE MSL's seeded the Knights 76-50 in an early-season exhibition. But if Prospect can get through the first round of the regional, it will meet the Hawks, they could meet the Hawks in the Arlington section, which begins March 12.

Wheeling, tournament among the regional's eight teams, will take on the winner of the Mid-Suburban League's Lexington and Lexington's Lexington. Prospect, in its opening round, will meet the Hawks.

St. Victor ranked sixth, won't get a bye in the first round. The Hawks and the champion from the Watkins division will meet in the first round. The Hawks and the champion from the Watkins division will meet in the first round.

and both New Trier schools are among the St. Louis section. The Washington and North Chicago lead the Washington division.

EB Grove will take off on the road in the regional, opening in the Addison Trail section. EB will collect in the regional, opening in the Addison Trail section. EB will collect in the regional, opening in the Addison Trail section.

Owens Laud's 'Cat Guards

The coaches who are lucky enough to have them, and the coaches who wish to be, did agree that Wheeling guards Jack Beattie and Don Wright were the key in the Wildcats' 72-46 win over Prospect Saturday.

Wheeling coach Mike Owens, whose team is not used with the Knights for first place in the Mid-Suburban League, calls the pair "the best backcourt combination in the conference."

Owens praised his center, Carl Fricke, for a "real strong performance" on the backboards and forward, Jim Smith, for his "consistency and good free throw shooting when we needed it."

BUT HE ADDED that "there's no question" that Owens' team is "the best in the conference." Owens said that "the Wildcats are a team that can win any game." Owens said that "the Wildcats are a team that can win any game."

Rand Road Expressway Plan Caredie in Instant Sky

Dotted line traces the proposed expressway which will adjust the boundaries of Des Plaines (1), Mount Prospect (2), Arlington Heights (3) and Palatine (4). The existing townships (dashed lines) and the first stage highway are shown here with recommended new ones. The map is on the basis of more detailed land use and engineering considerations.

Cities' Group Blasts Centex Plan for Industrial Rezoning

BY TED LACEY

Another skirmish in the battle between Elk Grove Village citizens group and the Centex Corp. over the proposed industrialization of a residential area was fought at a Village Plan Commission meeting last night.

Critics in requesting the rezoning of a 100-acre strip of land running from Lindmeier Rd. across Oakton St. to Higgin Rd.

What Centex wants to build, if the rezoning for industrial use is granted, is a mystery to village residents, according to Chairman of the citizens group Gerald Tvedy, 240 Glenwood Dr. "All they want is they want 'light manufacturing,' they didn't tell us what they would rather build," Tvedy said. "They just handed this to us and said take it."

"But we want to keep the area residential. That's the way it was when we bought our homes."

"WE MOVED here for a reason, and we don't want to have to cope with the problems of an industrial neighborhood—the drinks they're wandering through the streets, especially with the tremendous labor shortage and the necessity of hiring undesirable."

"Industry doesn't help the village that much. Only the 13,000 people working here, about 900 come from manufacturing."

Pansino to Quit As Dist. 23 Head

The formal announcement of the resignation of Louis P. Pansino as Prospect Heights Dist. 23 superintendent of schools is expected on Monday at a meeting of the board of education.

"I'm not unhappy with the district but I have an opportunity to go back to school and work for a P. D.," he said. "Since the opportunity is available, this is the time to take advantage of it."

His resignation will become effective June 30, 1968.

During the four years Pansino has been with Dist. 23, a new elementary school, John Muir, has been built and another is under construction.

Miller reportedly filed the resignation after he had been the pool here for a year.

A complaint against him was signed by representative of the 18th Ward House, W. Campbell.

Youth Charged With Forging $250 in Checks

A 19-year-old Crystal Lake resident was arrested by Arlington Heights Police Tuesday and charged with forging approximately $250 in checks.

John Miller was signed by Dr. Michael Wauson and Ronald Van Ruler at 11 N. Bedford.

Miller reportedly filed the resignation after he had been the pool here for a year.

Permit Sought

The Northern Illinois Gas Co. has applied to the Illinois Division of Public Safety for a permit to install a gas main in the area of the 18th Ward House, W. Campbell.

By Charles Mowbride

A high volume freeway proposed to be constructed somewhere along Rand Rd. is a plan in a distant sky, most officials have indicated.

An opportunity eventually will be built here because of future need for it has been shown by traffic studies of the Chicago Area Transportation Board, according to John D. Orszko of C.A.T.B.

But, Orszko said, the most location, the construction schedule and the design of the expressway may all be decided.

T. N. Natch, area district engineer of the State Division of Highways, said that the proposed plans are "pre-engineering" and that there are no cost estimates or designs under consideration.

As PROPOSED,

The freeway would be built on the Rand Rd. (U.S. 12) corridor. A strip of land extending about 7 miles on either side of the present highway.

The proposed freeway could be under Rand Rd. or parallel to it, whichever seems to be feasible.

However, Orszko said the location may be changed depending upon availability of land and the location of the school, factories and residential developments.

Arlington Heights Village

Manager L. A. Hanson said yesterday that the village has made several attempts to secure exact location of the freeway for planning purposes but to no avail.

THE PROPOSED

freeway would begin in Chicago and trace the boundaries of Park Ridge, the Palms, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Addison.

It would lead northwest along Lake-Cook Rd. and another proposed freeway which would begin in the Northbrook area in Lake County, and go south through the State County to meet the Stevenson Expressway.

The freeway could serve both east-west and north-south traffic.

THE DIVISION OF

highways must satisfy federal standards and have public hearings on the expressway before it can be about 50 percent of the cost would be borne by the federal government.

Orszko said that local planning commissions must consider the proposed freeway to help avoid duplication of roads and buildings.

Consisting engineers have advised Arlington Heights of the school and the location of traffic on Rand Rd. now is about 16,000 cars a day, this traffic load can be expected to increase to 24,000 cars a day by 1980. The proposed freeway, according to the engineers, could handle 54,000 cars a day.

Several plans for the construction of that expressway are being designed now. No land has been acquired so far.

BECAUSE INCREASED

traffic volume is expected in other areas, too. C.A.T.B. has set three stages of priority on its numerous planned expressways.

The Rand Rd. freeway is in the third stage of priority.

The first stage, which includes Chicago's Stevenson Expressway, was to have been finished by 1967.

Tanker Leaks Oil After Crash, Forces Re-routing of Traffic

BY MEL MILES

Traffic on Illinois Rte. 83 between Lincoln and Millers was re-routed for three hours last night after a tanker truck loaded with fuel oil crashed and began leaking.

The driver of the truck, Raymond C. Ketterer of Downers Grove, was not injured in the mishap.

Ketterer said police that a southbound motorist, who in front of his truck which was traveling south on Ill. Rte. 83, in an attempt to avoid a collision. Ketterer said, "I saw a truck stuck on the road."

Police could not move the truck because a rear side snapped after the collision.

Two off-duty policemen

The above estimate is substantiated by the 1960 estimate of C.A.T.B.

ORZSKO SAID THAT the program, because of lack of money, may be behind by about 15 years.

Since there are no signs that plans will move faster in the future and there is a difference of about eight years between the end of stage one and the beginning of stage three, the plans for this area's project are at this time almost 15 years behind schedule.

The second stage would last from 1961 to 1967 and would require $458 million.

It appears that unless additional money is put into the state highway construction program there will be no freeway here for another generation.

Dist. 214 Urges Building Of Senior Citizen Center

BY RICHARD CRAB

High School Dist. 214 is developing the possibilities of building a senior center for the citizens of the district.

The Dist. 214 area includes Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships and small sections of Palatine and Maine townships.

The materials in place overnight and resume the construction of the center.

The kids take over the park during the summer. The children and the school, which they want, but our senior citizens are pretty much left to their own devices.

"THERE ARE several senior centers in the City of Chicago," Martin said, "but our adult education work could be headquartered there."

Any person in the district aged 65 or over may receive a Gold Card by applying.

in addition, holders of Gold Cards may enroll free of charge for any of the adult education classes offered by Dist. 214 either in the fall or spring terms. Many Gold Cards must be renewed regularly for two classes each year.

Bank to Pay $56,000 For OK on Drive-in, Office Building

The First Arlington National Bank has agreed to pay the village $56,000 out of installing required parking and has land a piece of property on N. Arlington Heights Rd. and Eastman Rd. for a future bank drive-in facility and an office building.

Douglas Dots, executive vice president of the bank, said a five-story building will be planned for the southwest corner of Eastman and N. Arlington Heights Rd.

Originally the property on N. Arlington Heights Rd. was planned to fulfill parking space requirements for the new bank building at Campbell and Douglas.

In an effort to free the property on N. Arlington Heights

Rd. the bank proposed to give the first property in the 300 block of S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The bank's proposal was rejected by the Arlington Heights Board of Commissioners. The bank was ordered to pay for the bank and outside the downtown business district.

The bank lot was not owned by the bank but was available through a lease paid by the bank.

Thus the alternatives left to the bank were to find substitute property close to its location to pay the money instead of providing parking or to provide parking on the N. Arlington Heights Rd. property.

Dots categorically said the bank was recovering that cost from future business.

The bank is paying $15,000 for each of the 35 required parking spaces.

Village Urges New Look At Gas Station Rezoning

Arlington Heights Village Attorney Jack Siegel has petitioned the Cook County Board of Commissioners to reconsideration of rezoning a property owned by the village.

Arlington Heights is opposing the rezoning application because the property is immediately adjacent to the boundaries of the village and is surrounded by single-family homes with a value of $50,000 to $60,000.

The property, Siegel said, is also to be used for an amendment under the county zoning ordinance.

Siegel said that the county Board of Appeals did not notify the village of its decision and did not show consideration.

State statutes require the county board to consider the wishes of the village and other municipalities in the zoning or property.

President John G. Woods has condemned the actions of the county board.

Dialogue

...with George Hamilton

"Yes, I have been keeping up with the news about the pros and cons of busing students in Chicago and other cities. They want to do that to keep the parents from moving to the suburbs, or something."

"There's not the reason. It has to do with busing a racial balance in schools."

"I really wonder. I think it has to do with justice. All the people in the city, especially the city fathers who make all the plans, drive through the suburbs once in a while and see all the children going to school by bus."

"And they say to themselves, 'Why should our kids have to walk to school? We'll have a reason to have them ride to school and have the Federal government pay for it. And when the kids grow up, they'll be grateful voters who will like us."

"You really believe that?"

"Well, it's a possibility. But if you stop and think about it, busing may be the answer for all our country's problems."

"I can see it now. First, we'll get federal aid to buy buses to replace our old ones. Then the school districts then have all that valuable property available for sale to the highest bidder."

"O.K., so that brings property taxes down, right? Right, Maxwell, we will have obtained other money from the people in Washington, for a driver training program for the teachers. And we'll change the laws so that a teacher can't be fired unless he or she can drive a school bus."

"Then we can put a movie screen and projector in the school but to show educational movies. Of course, that will help industry because of the new markets that will be created. And it will also mean more money for our teachers to go to the Washington to talk each teacher on how to operate a school bus while running the movie projector."

"So each day students gather at the corner, get on the bus and go for an all-day ride. It'll probably be a boon to gas stations and drive-in restaurants as well."

"When a student puts up his hand to ask if he can go to the washroom, the teacher stops at the nearest gas station. The gas stations would, of course, have on hand plenty of soft drinks and milk. The want, including school supplies."

"And at lunch time, the teacher would drive into a drive-in restaurant. Field trips would be easy also, since the bus-classroom could go anywhere."

"I think you're overlooking something, though. You'd have to have a lot of teachers driving buses, they'd have to have a lot of drivers to take the teachers unless or the Teachers Union or the

Junior Board Links Teens, Adults

BY DIANNE CLERHAN

The big difference between adults and teenagers is not as much age as it is attitude, said Rick Lorrell, 18, 1722 Basewood, Prospect Heights. Rick is senior at Wheeling High School. He is president of the Park View Homewomen's Association's Junior Board and is the first teen-member of the association board. "Although we're technically minors and, therefore, cannot vote, at last we have a voice and can say something," Rick said.

THE JUNIOR board was organized by Mrs. William Gardner, president of the Park View Homewomen's Assn., and her husband, who decided "at October that the area teenagers were getting too much bad publicity and not enough recognition for their achievements."

Having no teen-teens of their own, the Gardeners appointed an organizational meeting and three teen-agers to meet.

Rick said, "I was only made in the group so I was elected president." Since October the junior board has grown to 12 members and has

I won't either," Rick said, when asked how he became member of the homewomen's board. "But I changed when my family moved to Prospect Heights from Crystal Lake when I was a sophomore in high school. The high school in Crystal Lake was older and smaller and it was a full time to be collegiate, he said."

THE FIRST WEEK at Wheeling High School, students have to choose which groups they want to belong to. "A lot of the teen-agers in this community have bad reputations, and many of us want to do something about that. There's not much for teens to do out here that doesn't cost a lot of money and most teens in the area are really looking for a way to upgrade their status," Rick said.

He said that by joining an adult association he could help influence some of their attitudes toward teens and also let them know what teenagers are like. The junior board also publishes a newsletter called "Teen Talk."

to attract more teen-agers to meetings and to inform the community of their activities. "The first project the junior board tackled last fall was to repair the signs in their Prospect Heights subdivision which had been vandalized on Halloween. The senior homewomen's board furnished the paint."

Their next project was to clean up the area around the community which had been blemished by the senior board. Several of the area homewomen complained that the children were tracking through their lawns to catch school buses and threatened to call the police. The junior board published a notice in their bulletin and talked to some of the town tractors who turned out to be pre-teen.

"I said, 'we talked to the kids but the one thing that we didn't do was threaten them with a telling their parents or the police. A teen can talk to younger kids or older teens in their own language and make them understand the law as an adult's language,' he said."

THE MAJORITY of adults are "killing us with their attitude," Rick said. "They had facts when they were growing up, such as long hair, baggy clothes, and beaver coats but many adults don't try to understand that most teen facts are harmless."

Rick said, however, that the adults in his community have become very receptive to some of the junior board's plans and activities. When a group existed in the neighborhood and at Christmas holidays, Rick said, every homewoman donated money to the charity. They were collecting for and that their senior board had offered to send them in person.

"Like most teens in this area, I work after school. I've been working for several years and just can't stop. Between school and work there isn't much time left for other activities, but then, there isn't much for teens to do in the area which doesn't take a lot of money," he said.

Rick offered some examples and made suggestions. He said that the drive movie bean wagon, which he said there wasn't much for teens who didn't want to go to discotheques to do that was "cool." He said that the adult board should be against drive-in movies, he said.

Also, he said that the adults are crowded, have long waiting lists and tend to rush teenagers on dates, Rick said. "The kids could easily have in the party and there's no place really to go and most people half heartily limit to teenagers over 18," he added.

HE SAID THAT if the teens on the junior board could make suggestions to the community they would be more likely to be sponsored by the community. The junior board is in turn assisted the adult board by supplying a list of teen-agers' activities a week before the homewomen's association dance and is now planning a winter carnival for area pre-teens and are trying to have Basil's St. repaired in their area for safety reasons.

Fun Now, Pay Later

This is our idea of a real philanthropist.

An anonymous member of Wolford College in Spartanburg, S.C., has set up a loan fund to make sure that no one goes through the college "without having any fun."

The donor got the idea for the fund when he was a senior at Wolford way back in 1959 and bought a girl a corset for a school dance. According to the story in the National Observer, all upperclassmen, if they have passing grades and are deemed "worthy and reliable" by college administrators, can borrow up to $50 interest-free to finance dates, fraternity parties, hi-fi equipment or just about anything that will give them fun.

The only stipulation is that they must certify that the money will be expended on such things as school fees, room and board or books. The loans are repayable in four months, with a $1 fee administrative charge.

Letters to the Editor

Dislikes Church Page 'Meditations'

Editor: I always get a charge out of your motto, "Honor the original dream by always persistently keeping the paper's freedom and intellectual integrity." I am sorely tempted to buy off this motto.

Why? Because a I.W.A. fellow misquoting and stridently laid out against hundreds of homes, businesses, and schools.

"Thank the Lord he didn't," I heard, hundreds of people who have died, or are being crippled for life.

Robert Kishner Mount Prospect

Would you have me arrested if I picked your issue with a big sign saying, "Arlington Day is helping to perpetuate a gigantic fraud? Believe me, I am sorely tempted to buy off this motto."

In Philip Wylie's book, "An Essay On Morals," he says, "I have been back in the church, but I don't like it. I would do away with it. This institution, this church for hypocrites and university of ignorance, has resisted attack from moral sense and decent quarters since the time of its birth. It is good to see a man with a pen and a drum and until the reign of the current Pope."

Arlington Day is "Theoretically, the stilette has been high in the Register as a great. Actually, he has no opportunity. The 'good' people in our society choke him. They already 'know' that they are 'right' and will not hear anything further or permit the public to issue a syllable of dissent."

SALUTING THE BOY SCOUTS of Arlington Heights ON THEIR 58th ANNIVERSARY

"I suppose every boy wants to help his country in some way or other. There is a way by which he can do so easily, and that is by becoming a Boy Scout."

Baden-Powell

Scouting has become increasingly more important to the future of our country. This is one reason why the Scout movement aims for a high standard of citizenship, character and physical fitness. In the program there is a strong emphasis on training for citizenship. Every boy must learn respect for the flag, loyalty to country, and an appreciation of our American heritage. We salute the Scouts and the great work they are doing in making better citizens.

Rumsfeld: Best Bet to Become A 50-Year Member of Congress

BY RICHARD CHARR

"He's Illinois best bet to become a 50-year member of Congress," said one of the dinner guests.

The dinner, at Evanston's Orrington Hotel's few evenings ago, was a benefit to launch Congressman Donald Rumsfeld on his campaign for a fourth term in the Congress from the 13th Illinois Congressional District.

Everything that took place during the evening put a firm foundation under the prediction of a long career in Congress for the young man from Glenview. Rumsfeld has remarkable qualifications, both in his relationship within the district and in his activities on the Washington scene. Certainly it would appear that he can, if he chooses, look forward to spending years if not decades in the Congress.

HE HAS YOUTH and health, a glib-edged personality, an intellect that is both quick and deep-thinking, a sense of humor that stays near the surface, a vast energy and an outstanding command of both in conversation and from the speaker's platform.

The relationship between Rumsfeld and his congressional district is a classic in the American pattern of politics. The 13th congressional district includes the generous slice of the "north shore," extending west across northern and western Cook County.

It is often described as the "wealthiest congressional district in the USA," and it will be. This would include in congressmen would be from one of the "old families."

Rumsfeld has neither family or banking ties with the gold mines. When he was only 26 years old in 1963 he decided to run for Congress in the 13th District on the Republican ticket.

CONGRESSMAN DONALD RUMSFELD

"The political process is our nation's safety valve. We need leadership that can explore America's basement."

The sedate 13th, fresh with the memory of great leaders like Margaretta Sins Church, welcomed Rumsfeld into the family immediately and that is the way it has been ever since.

All of these things were evident at the Orrington dinner, but in the finale, Rumsfeld surprised his audience by giving a 20-minute "state of the Union" commentary that revealed he has great unopposed capacities as an orator of the Dirksen school. There was no script, only a few notes put down on route. Here are some of his comments.

Regarding 1964: "...In future years, I believe historians will judge that the 1964 presidential elections was a watershed in American history, perhaps as significant in determining the future course and purpose as the election campaign of 1960 in which Lincoln opposed Douglas.

Our Times: "...Today, we see the familiar environment changing. The mystery of the human oil is being unraveled, gravity defied and the moon reached. In our great cities, crime and civil disorder threaten our social fabric. The delicate balance between an orderly society and individual liberty is in danger of being broken up."

"In at least half a dozen places around the world — Berlin, the Middle East, Vietnam, Thailand, Latin America and Africa — the seeds of catastrophic crises are planted, each coming into bloom in the hellish environment of the 'cold war'."

Our GOP Candidates: "...Our candidates this year will be measured not for competence, loyalty and stature alone but for some additional attributes. First, they must be men with the courage to stand up to our enemies — and I must add the courage to stand up, when necessary, for associates — and the courage to resist superficial public pressure as well as private greed."

"They must be men of judgment... They will be truly men of integrity, men who do not trim the goals in which we believe... Finally, they will be men of dedication devoted solely to the public good and the national interest."

About Urban America: "...Urban America is slowly being strangled by choking traffic, polluted air, dirt, crime, explosive racial tensions, explosive racial tensions, corruption and crime, and too often indifference."

"If a political party when to stay in the arena, it must tackle the problems affecting the people. For the nation to be enthusiastic about a political party, that political party must be excited and enthusiastically dealing with the real problems of the nation."

The Safety Valve: "...The authority with the people, and with the leaders, not with the party. The political process in our nation's safety valve. It must be made to work."

Our Leadership: "...We need a leadership that can explore America's basement. We seek leadership that understands how for great leadership in our nation's safety valve. We need leadership that can span our nation to pull together."

What Kind of Day is it? "Outstanding" "Splendid..."

Special Valentine Dessert

Trying to think of a very special dessert for a Valentine Day party or luncheon?

Clarice Delaney, Northern Ill. Gas Co. Home Service director, suggests a heart-shaped Lady Baltimore Cake with pink icing and a tatty nut filling.

Lady Baltimore is a southern name for a certain rare and glorious species of cake—and the cake itself could not be of more airy and delicate consistency than the romantic adity told by Owen Wister in his 1906 novel of the same name.

THE BOOK tells a tale of old-time southern customs and a young man who for a young woman who did not belong to southern aristocracy. Comedy became distorted and played havoc with their two young lives.

In one chapter of the book the author describes the Lady Baltimore cake which was to serve as the couple's wedding cake. Since 1906 "Lady Baltimore," the cake and the book, has become one of these rare achievements in American fiction as well as in American cookery.

To make the cake:
Bake two packages (1 pound-2½ cups) white cake mix & package (½ cup) instant fluffy white icing. Bake cake according to package instructions using two (5-inch) square baking pans and two (5-inch) round baking pans. While cakes are cooking, prepare filling of your choice and icing.

LADY BALTIMORE
FILLING NO. 1
2 cups chopped seedless

The famous "Lady Baltimore" cake takes on a special shape for Valentine's Day.

1½ cups chopped dried fruit
3 cups chopped nuts
Combine all ingredients and add one-half of the icing.

1½ cups chopped seedless cherries
2 jars (12-ounce) cherry preserves
Brown almonds in melted butter on a medium flame on the temperature controlled burner set at 350 degrees. Add candied cherries, cherry preserves and one-half of the icing.

To make heart-shaped cake, put all cake layers in half horizontally. Also, put the round cake layers in half vertically. Place a square cake layer diagonally on platter. Place cut edges of round cake against two sides of square cake. Spread ½ of the filling across the top of the cake. Continue to alternate cake layers with filling.

Fruitbols or dainties may be used to hold layers in place. Complete the Valentine's extravaganza by covering sides and top of cake with icing.

How Top Quality Blue Cheese Is Manufactured

An all-American favorite, blue cheese, is made in the heart of the country's dairyland in four main steps. The procedure follows in the manufacture of blue cheese are pasteurizing, but product by top quality cheese.

The blue flavor trouble in the cheese are created by the growth of a particular fungus called spores called mold. Here the cheesemakers remove the exact amount of penicillin to be added to a batch.

Wheels of cheese are formed in the "moulding" process. The workman dips the curd from the vat and pours it into open-end cylinders.

The cheese is placed with stainless steel needles before it is put in the cure room to allow the gas of fermentation to escape and permit the entrance of air that promotes the growth of flavor streaks.

Each lot of blue cheese is "ripened" periodically to determine the level in the cure room to allow the gas of fermentation to escape and permit the entrance of air that promotes the growth of flavor streaks.

Ne Virginia, this is NOT how the Chicago Black Hawks practice when it isn't cold enough to freeze outside. This is Bemidji, Minn. Bemidji High School's answer to Chicago's NHL team is the Bemidji Hawks. The Hawks are the only team in the state to have won the state championship (23) five seasons.

Broom at the Top Bemidji Sweeps Sport World

BY TOM WALSH

A desperation 50-foot slip shot out of the broom of senior Steve Whittier with only two seconds remaining to play. The shot was a 1-1 tie with the Rhine-Wine, the first-half champion of the senior division of Arlington High School's intramural basketball league.

What's that you say? Off the broom? What ball league? Designed on the same lines as hockey, Bemidji ball is played on ice instead of skates, utilizing a volleyball instead of a puck, become instead of sticks, and a tennis court instead of an ice rink.

THE OBJECT of the game, the hockey, is to get the ball into the opponent's goal. Each team consists of five forwards and a goalie, and the game is divided into six-minute halves.

Although slowed down considerably by the absence of skates, the game can be as stamina-demanding as hockey — if not more so — as players are required to keep the ball in play after the ball is instead of stick. All the roughness of hockey is contained,

Suburban Living ... 1818

A log cabin, a plowed field, surrounded by a frontier wilderness called Illinois. A century and a half ago a hardy breed of men and women tamed this wilderness and opened the door of progress to future generations. As our state marks its 150th Anniversary, homeowners of the Northwest Suburbs could well salute the "suburbanites" of 1818.

Arlington Broadens Coverage

A new corporate identity program was announced this week by Herb Carl for Arlington Realty, Inc., with offices in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect. The program attempts to broaden the firm's overall image to include an expanded real estate market in the area.

At the head of the program is a new trademark insignia - a shield with a big "A" on the left and a stylized door knocker on the right. The former ties in with the firm's "Big A" symbol used for several years in advertising and signs.

THE DOOR knocker, associated with fine homes, indicates Arlington Realty's membership in Homeric, the nation's oldest and largest home referral service. Arlington Realty is the exclusive franchised Homeric representative in this area.

Backing up the new emblem will be a revamped and broadened advertising program in area newspapers.

"Up until a few years ago, most of our buyers and sellers were primarily interested in Arlington Heights," Herb Carl told Day Publications. "Now things have changed markedly. While Arlington Heights is still the hub of our operations, just as it is the center of our MAP Multiple Listing Service area, more and more of our clients are also interested in seeing Mount Prospect, Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Buffalo Grove, and so on. We are gearing our entire operations to do the most effective job possible for the entire area, rather than just Arlington Heights where we have been well known for almost 20 years."

Arlington Realty opened a Mount Prospect office last year and plans to open a fourth office, in Palatine, in the near future.

A NEW HOME sales record for a 12-month period has been announced this week by Arlington Realty, Inc.

Sales for 1967 amounted to $7,800,000, according to Carl. He said this was a new high for the firm and represented an increase of 24 per cent over 1966 sales.

Sales of 262 homes last year were chalked up by the firm, with the average sale totaling $30,000. Sales in 1966 were 221 homes averaging $28,100.

Some of these sales were in cooperation with other members of the MAP Multiple Listing Service.

Carl attributed the sharp increase in volume to two main causes: A stronger demand for homes in the northwest suburban area, and the opening of a Mount Prospect office, Mt. Winfield in the area.

It was also announced that three members of the Arlington Realty sales staff participated in sales in excess of $1,000,000 each.

Open New Office In Mount Prospect

Homefinders has announced the opening of their third area office. The owners of the firm, Jan Behrens, Ralph Edgar, Harry Johnson and Dave Hanner, opened the office at 900 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect, on Jan. 15.

By expanding into Mount Prospect, the owners hope to better serve the community of Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Des Plaines and Elk Grove. The announcement comes just seven months after the merger of Homefinders at Palatine and the former C. M. Behrens, Inc. Realtors of Arlington Heights.

Homefinders at Mount Prospect hopes to complement the efforts of its active offices at 2 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, and 101 S. Northwest Hwy., Palatine.

HOMEFINDER'S presently has a staff of 16 professionally trained sales people. The cumulative experience of the staff represents many years of dedicated service in the Real Estate industry in the Northwest Suburb.

The rapid expansion of the company is largely attributable to its progressive sales training program and the aggressive efforts of the entire staff.

Homefinders has a unique service to offer transferred buyers and sellers. Its efforts are multiplied through the work of other Homefinder franchised offices throughout the greater north and northwest Chicago and area and Milwaukee.

Homefinders is a member of the MAP Area Multiple Listing Service. The firm co-operated with MAP Realtors in the sale of 120 homes in the last half of 1967.

All-Plastic Houses On Boards

There are exciting things in store for the homebuyer who is young - in spirit, at least - and optimistic and unspoiled.

New plastics and forming processes promise mass produced, yet highly individual, homes at half the cost of today's housing.

And this promise of plastics should be realized within another decade, according to Dann Deaver, in charge of industrial design for Borg-Warner Corporation's Century Engineering Department.

DEAVER, WHO HAS designed camper and racing cars of Cyaloc ABS (acrylonitrile-butadiene-styrene) plastic believes the module building concept exhibited at Expo 67's Habitat in Montreal can be applied, and improved upon, to mass produce personal housing at one-half the cost of today's homes.

He says he looks for "the young people, those who are open-minded and unspoiled," to break us away from present conceptions of how a house should look. These stereotype images, he feels, were created by the limitations of building materials.

Timely Hint To Enhance Your Home

A timely hint for homemakers desiring to enhance the family living room or entrance hall is to install the right kind of clock, both for decorative effect and for use.

If your furniture is traditional or even Victorian, the ideal timepiece is a grandfather's clock. If you don't have the space for a mantel-mounted one, you will find smaller designs available.

There are beautifully styled provincial types of wall clocks, suitable for French, Italian, or Spanish period furniture, and for modern foyers with clean simple lines, the Scandinavian clocks which have hand-painted colorful dials are just the thing.

The wall clocks which are battery-operated come in quite contemporary shapes, with the many-rayed and filigree-plate types offering a wide choice.

If you can find space on the mantel above a fireplace, there are any number of old favorite designs, preferably those that chime the hours, to brighten up the passing of the hours.

Cold? Shut That 'Invisible Door'

When winter blasts attack your home, there may be an "invisible door" that is wide open to those unwelcome visitors.

If you have a fireplace, check whether the damper is open when not in use, or even use it if it does not fit properly.

Cold drafts and a considerable loss of heat can result - more important is the updraft along the floor of the room and right up your chimney which whips that heat warm air into the big chimney opening to heat the outdoors, which really doesn't need it, you'll agree.

A simple trick to make sure you and your family watch this "invisible door" to put a card on the fireplace mantelpiece with a warning such as "Check damper" or just "Damper!"

Bobby Pin Bookmark

Water Spots

Those water spots on your stainless-steel sinks can be wiped away with a paper towel that has been dampened with just a little alcohol. The surface is made sanitary at the same time.

"With the module concept, and the color selection available," Deaver said, "we can provide an unlimited number of appearances, designs and shapes. Tomorrow's buyers will be able to have individual looking homes at mass production prices."

HE SAYS 500 SQUARE foot rooms (20 by 25 feet, for example) can be produced today in 20 minutes. Thermoplastic molding machines are capable of taking an integral colored 10 by 25 foot sheet of ABS, heating it and forming it into half a room in 10 minutes. The two room sections can be transported easily to the construction site, joined and welded together.

A number of modules stacked or joined together would form a complete home or apartment complex. The modules, formed of two sheets of thermoplastic with an inner sandwich of urethane foam, would be soundproof. Doors, windows and connecting airways between modules would be routed at the site.

DEAVER SAYS a module designed for the living room could, for instance, contain a molded section center section, with formed circular sofa, built-in bookcases and alcoves. Appropriate furniture and storage units could be pre-formed in other living areas such as dinette, bedrooms, family rooms.

"The kitchen," he explained, "would have pre-formed cabinets, sinks and drainboards and recesses for refrigerator and other appliances."

Bedrooms would be completely formed, with only pipe and electrical connections required at the home site. Already, Deaver noted, integral bathrooms are being dropped through shafts of apartment buildings being remodeled in cities like New York.

THE TOUGH ABS plastics - the material used in football helmets and colored telephones - currently is being used for numerous residential purposes. External uses include eaves, shutters, shiping, aging doors, inside houses, it is used in chairs, plated chandeliers, and in both French and closet doors, since forming is much less expensive than wood handcrafted decorating.

ABS won't corrode, dent or break. The color resists scratching or chipping and it never needs painting. About all the homeowner would have to do is hose down the sides of the house now and again, Deaver said.

However, the plastic can be painted, should a change of color be desired.

DEAVER SAID INTERIOR walls could contain formed designs, or be plain, and each wall could have an individual color. Again, allowing for individual expression and change, the walls could be paneled, painted or covered with wallpaper or vinyl.

As to price, Deaver said, "we'll be able to offer a 1,500 or 2,000 square foot home in the $18,000 to $20,000 range, exclusive of land."

Deaver said the lower cost is possible through shakable reduction of on-site labor. In-plant production, he estimates, would drop costs to less than $10 per square foot. Most of today's homes cost about $12 to $18 per square foot, he said.

WHAT'S THE HOLDUP?

Deaver says construction codes, passed before plastic became a structural possibility will have to be changed.

He feels the concept will be used first to serve the housing needs of college students and military dependents.

Offer Course In Real Estate Management

The Institute of Real Estate Management will present Course III, the Executive Management Conference, Feb. 14-18, in Miami, William C. Haas, of Kansas City, Mo., president-elect, announced.

IREM, a professional affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, awards the professional CPM (Certified Property Manager) designation to individuals able to meet the Institute's requirements as to experience, education, and ethical conduct.

Course III was created by the Institute to provide the experienced real estate practitioner with the opportunity to conduct an on-site study of a property, either a commercial or residential building or a shopping center.

ENROLLMENT is open to those who have completed the Institute's Courses I and II, or have the equivalent experience and training. The program of study applies the case-study method to the analytical process and the preparation of a survey.

To insure maximum participation by all students, attendance has been limited to 60. Realtors concerned with investment properties, mortgage bankers involved with administering large investments, appraisers who must learn to evaluate management; and managers of properties such as those studied will want to reserve a place in this vital course, Haas said.

Course planner for the Executive Management Conference will be Robert A. Gane, Jr. of Seattle, 1966 president of the Institute. Other faculty members are Stanley W. Arnheim, Pittsburgh, 1953 president; Michael Conlon, Miami, president, South Florida Chapter, IREM; and Enrique Velledor, Miami.

Additional information on Course III in Miami is available from the Institute of Real Estate Management, 155 East Superior St., Chicago 60611.

Make Certain It's A Bargain

Junk furniture has been aptly titled "Instant Antique." You sit in a chair and it cracks, lean back in a sofa and feel the joints groan, sit down to a table and it wobbles.

You have tried to save money and have bought trouble instead. You have become a collector, lawfully, of junk furniture.

Young homemakers are the ones most often misled by price tags to become "Instant Antiquers." In their rush to create a furniture that is topical in today's scene, they are induced to be buyers of what seems sturdy but is just as clearly nondurable, once it's put to use.

STYLES IN FURNITURE COME AND GO. Periods that were featured in museum displays have returned to the current scene and become "hot" design leaders.

For young couples starting to assemble furniture, it's most important to keep within their budget. All the more reason why they should therefore narrow down the selection of their purchases to such items as will stand up to daily use, and still be functioning years from now. Every item that must be replaced in the near future represents an extra outlay over the cost of the discarded piece.

Solid quality should be the criterion applied to furniture being bought by the newweds. The initial cost of certain pieces may seem high, but should be balanced against the term of years such items will be used. Particular attention should be paid to the construction and durability of tables, chairs, sofas, beds, storage dressers and chests.

A BECKY END TABLE can be replaced without too much expense. The same cannot be said for a dresser that seemed a bargain but now has drawers that stick or come unlatched, or is unsound on its supports.

Even such accessories as lamps or wall pictures should get this same hard scrutiny by the young couple shopping for their new home or apartment. It's more prudent to have a few good pictures than a shambles of crassly framed mediocre art. A properly chosen lamp, similarly, will find its place in your home for many years, and need only a new shade from time to time.

Don't be in a rush to collect this wrong kind of "Instant Antique" furniture, advise homemaking experts. Time enough to do some antique gathering after your family has grown up. Who knows, your children may then decide that the familiar old family furniture is now the latest "in" thing and may want to "borrow" a piece or two as they start their own home?

No Need to be Helpless In Winter

J. RICHARD JACKSON

Peters and Evans, Realtors have announced that J. Richard Jackson is now associated with their firm. Jackson is a graduate of Colorado State University in Industrial-Construction-Management and has done further study at Colorado University and Northwestern University.

Before coming with Peters and Evans, he was an engineering representative of Autus Life & Casualty, handling some of the largest industrial corporations in the area. He plans to utilize his knowledge gained with previous work to help the average and investment property division, as well as working with residential sales.

Active in the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity and the Arlington Hts. J.C.'s, he spends his free time skiing and crewing for a 36' cutter sailboat "Ran" in the summertime.

Winter weather is unpredictable and so are the emergencies that come with it. High winds and freezing temperatures bring their own problems and any problem is tougher to deal with in cold weather.

Frozen pipes, electrical failures, leaky roofs and broken windows are among the problems that come with or are made worse by bad weather.

Some of these you can cope with yourself using ordinary tools and common items around the house. Others require professional help. Meanwhile, there are measures you can take to make things less difficult.

ELECTRICAL BREAKDOWNS are something you cannot cure yourself, but there are steps you can take while the utility company makes repairs.

Disconnect motor-driven appliances - refrigerators, freezers, pumps, etc. When power is restored it may be at only half the normal voltage. If the motors are on they could be damaged functioning under this condition. Wait until it is fully restored. Lamps will glow dimly at partial voltage.

Keep refrigerator and freezer doors closed to prevent food spoilage. Food will keep 24 to 36 hours if you can avoid letting warm air in.

AN ELECTRICAL FAILURE will affect most heating systems. In the case of an oil burner, there is little you can do. Most gas-operated systems have self-energizing units which means the burner will continue to operate even in a power breakdown.

What will not work, however, is the motor-driven fan on a forced-air system. Remove the filter, turn off the blower motor and turn the system into a gravity-fed one. It won't work as well, but it is better than nothing.

Also, if the burner will not work without an electrical impulse from the thermostat, you will have to look for the manual control to get the burner going.

In a hot-water system an electric pump circulates the water. Turn off the pump, open the flow valve on the water line. Warm water then will circulate, not as well as with a pump, but well enough under the circumstances.

A FROZEN WATER PIPE will need a slow thawing. Skip the blow torch; it thaws too quickly and there's the danger of fire. Fast thawing will start steam at that one point, causing the pipe to burst. Use an electric light bulb, a heat lamp or a hair dryer. Work close to the faucet, farthest from the shut-off valve. Move the heat back and forth.

Should a pipe burst, turn off the water supply and make a temporary repair with a piece of hose and a couple of clamps. That section of the pipe will have to be replaced as soon as you can do it.

WHEN THAWING A PIPE, keep the

Cleaning Chrome

Chromed household appliances can be cleaned easily if you use a rag, dampened and dipped in corn starch. Let the starch dry, wipe article clean with soft rag.

ELEVATE THE SOAP

When showers are placed over tubs, soap dishes are usually arranged for the convenience of bathers, not showerers. Placing a second dish at standing height in the ceramic tile shower enclosure can eliminate much awkward fumbling, bending and head-banging.

REAL ESTATE CORNER

By Robert L. Nelson
President, Robert L. Nelson, Realtors

AUTOMOBILE'S EFFECT ON REAL ESTATE?

Many factors have influenced the growth and development of real estate.

How did the invention of the automobile affect Real Estate?

Before the motorcar came along, people lived closely together in cities. Driving across was just for farming. Horse and trailer cars provided a driving distance of about five miles.

Then came the invention of that "infernal machine!" People could now measure distances in minutes instead of miles. It became possible for a man to live comparatively far away from his place of business.

Now living areas beyond city borders sprang up which were easily reached by automobile.

"Downtown" was not the only area available for commercial property. Merchants had begun to see the necessity of establishing stores in the new living areas.

Ask your Realtor how the automobile affected the growth pattern of your city.

The 1947 sales figures are one to show how close they are to the previous years.

See Robert L. Nelson, Realtors had all other Realtors in home sales, including homes sold in cooperation with R.L. Nelson, Living Brokers, Inc., 4217 N. Lincoln, in 1947, in cooperation with M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service, a new record for the Nelson Organization.

Two-Story Room Sets Striking Note

Seen from the second floor balcony, the living room of the contemporary home offers this dramatic view. Sphere at upper right is a modernistic bubble-type lighting suspended from the 17-foot ceiling. Note the tall living room window which rises from floor to ceiling of the two-story living room. Measuring 17½ by 16 feet, the living room is one of the unusual features of the Kent.

"Every once in a while a volume home builder should come out with a design that is dramatically different—a bold architectural statement that catches the eye and makes people talk—even at the risk of building a house that is so different it won't sell in large numbers," is the belief of Robert Roemer, president of the Hoffman Roemer Corp., developer of the new Churchill community in northwest suburban Schaumburg.

The house he's talking about is the four-bedroom, 2½-bath Kent. The house, dramatically different from the five other new models being shown, has turned into a strong seller, according to Roemer.

THE MOST DISTINCTIVE feature of the home is its two-story living room. Three glass window panels rise 15 feet from floor to ceiling. An open staircase leading to a balcony overlooking the living room completes the dramatic effect.

Roemer said that people expect to find something a little different when they see the Kent from the outside. But when they enter the house and see the living room, they're literally stopped in their tracks.

"It's almost like entering a cathedral," he said. "The effect is breath-taking."

"This is the type of design you'd expect to get only in a custom home selling for more than $60,000," Roemer said. "Yet we're delivering the Kent for $36,500, including lot. So far, sales of the Kent account for 10 per cent of all homes sold in Churchill."

ALONG WITH ITS DRAMATIC LIVING ROOM, the house offers a long list of features that make for pleasant living. Among them is total space: 3,185 square feet, including a two-car garage.

The main floor is laid out so that activity and relaxation areas are separate. The entry is in the center, providing access to the family room on one side, the powder room and kitchen directly ahead, and the dining room and living room on the other side.

Measuring 17½ by 16 feet with 17-foot-high ceiling, the living room is separated from the 10½ by 16 foot dining room by the open-work staircase. In this manner, the staircase gives each area privacy, and yet unites them visually. Living room, dining room, and staircase are all luxuriously carpeted.

Convenience and spaciousness characterize the 14 by 9½ foot kitchen with built-in pantry. Included in the kitchen are Universal-Chef double oven and range; IXL cabinets; Universal Waste-King dishwasher with wood paneled front; Elkay stainless double bowl sink; and ceramic tile on walls between counters and cabinets.

Adjacent to the kitchen is the 14 by 22½ foot family room, with views of the front and rear lawns. An optional wood-burning fireplace is available for this room. The family room has a door leading to the rear lawn, and another to the 19 x 9 foot laundry and storage room.

FOR A TOUCH OF LUXURY, the main floor powder room has a mirrored wall and a vanity counter.

Upstairs, the Kent has four large bedrooms: 11 x 10, 11 x 13½, 12 x 10, and 11½ x 22 feet, plus a study.

"The master bedroom is arranged as a private suite, with its own entrance from the living room balcony, two closets, and a bath with glass shower stall," Roemer said.

A second full bath serves the other three bedrooms. The study is located so it can serve as a library, TV area, or sewing room. All four bedrooms, den, and second floor halls are carpeted.

THE BUYER HAS A CHOICE of two interior treatments: one with vertical stained siding and a gable roof, the second with horizontal stained siding and a hip roof.

For those who prefer homes in the more traditional vein, Churchill also offers two two-story models with four and five bedrooms, a spacious split-level, and L-shaped and U-shaped ranches. Prices range from $30,500 to $37,500.

Furnished model homes are on display daily, including Sunday, until 6 p.m. on Higgins Road four miles west of Highway 53.

Decorating Ideas

In the Old Family Album

Have you looked through that old family album lately?

You may have a bonus waiting for your skill as an interior decorator to turn those old tin-types or chrome into real conversation pieces. Suitably framed, many of the candid camera shots of yesterday may look better on your walls than old masters. Faded and sometimes cracked, they sometimes need only the loving care of your touch to make them bright decorations on your walls.

IN EXTREME CASES, you may want to have expert restoration work done on your ancestors' portraits to make them objects of fascination to your own family and to house guests.

Small pictures can be built up by using large mats or inserts before framing. Country scenes will show up better if you provide vibrant finish wood for the frames.

Old-fashioned charm in today's setting will add to the warmth and hospitable feeling of your own home.

Use Louvers Inside and Out

There has been an upsurge in popularity in the louver door in decorating and remodeling. This is due in no small part to the availability of factory-made louver doors in a wide variety of sizes and styles. You can get them in most lumber yards and even a few department stores. Mail order houses stock them.

They are not terribly expensive. There are sizes that will take care of almost any situation, and they are easy to install.

You can use them on closets and wardrobes, as doors for cupboards and cabinets, to make a storage wall, a room divider or a screen (things three or more together). On closets, the slatted slats allow air to circulate while keeping out dust.

YOU CAN HANG them on hinges as you would a conventional door or slide them on a track. There are double types available which make a folded door that does not project as far into a room.

You can get a short casetypc door if you like. Hang them on special hinges that swing both ways and use them for kitchen, pantry or your own private bar room.

Use louver doors to close off the space under the sink or for a bathroom vanity.

If furnace and water heater are located on the first floor use louver doors to make them attractively.

OUTDOORS you can take louver doors and hang them on each side of a window as decorative shutters. Get the proper hardware and it is no trick to turn them into shutters that can be closed.

Shutters inside have become an interesting decorative trick too. They make good window blinds. Get them in sections rather than full length and you can open the top for air and light while leaving the lower half closed for privacy.

Outdoors again you can make a narrow entrance door look wider by adding two full-length louver panels, one on each side and painted to match the door.

YOU MAY NOT find the louver door you want in exactly the size you want it, but you can get them close enough and cutting down is easy. Generally they are stocked in sizes that will vary four inches in height, two inches in width. You can easily cut an inch or more off the end rails for fitting.

A one-panel panel means the entire door consists of slats in a standard frame. Two panel doors have a cross rail across the middle. There also are some with slats in one half, solid panel in the other.

WHEN MOUNTING, trim top and bottom to fit. If you are mortising the hinge, trace the hinge on the edge of the panel and then chisel carefully to the right depth. Mount one leaf of the hinge, then prop the door against the frame to find the position of the other leaf.

If you use pulls or other hardware, center them with the center rail.

If you make screens out of louver panels use them at three points, top, top and bottom. Finish as you would any door - weather-resistant paints or varnishes outdoors; paint, varnish, shellac, or wax indoors.

"Louver doors are decorative and practical."

Wide Choice In Carlisle

At Carlisle, located on Roselle Rd., about two miles south of Rt. 71, is the recently-opened Lancer Park area of Schaumburg the "Staffmark" continues to receive the accolades of visitors.

The design is a distinctive two-story design with a mansard roof, priced at $41,000 for the basic four-bedroom, full basement home. The model is also offered with five bedrooms for an additional $300 - both versions having two-and-a-half baths. A further popular choice on the basic model is an attractive Colonial exterior, without the mansard roof, at approximately $1000 less. Several other major features are extensively customized, allowing still more opportunity to meet buyers' personal demands, and the striking fireplace in the large family room is optional.

THE EXTERIOR of the "Staffmark" is of fine brick in the purchaser's choice of color, with the siding of aluminum or cedar. Distinctive touches include shuttered multi-paned windows, antique hanging lights and paneled double front door. The mansard roof model on display is French Provincial in theme.

The large entry features a wide, finely-worked stairway extending to the second floor in two flights. From this point, entering traffic may disperse immediately toward the rear of the home, into the family room and kitchen - or, two steps down, into the sunken living room. The latter gives plenty of natural light from the wide view window at the front of the home, and is nearly 20 feet by 14 feet in size.

In a far corner of the room, two steps up, is the entrance into the dining room - and an attractive design feature there, is the highly-polished wooden railing, well-high, at each side of the door.

THE KITCHEN, with a spacious informal eating area, is 14 feet 6 inches long and 13 feet wide. Carefully matched floor, in a tile pattern and work areas are in an L-layout. The entire room is open and convenient to the family room - well over 18 feet long - and the optional fireplace is at the far end. At one corner of this room is the entrance to the mud-utility room, which has its own outside entry. Nearly centered in the first-floor plan, is the powder room - just off the front entryway and the inside entrance to the two-car garage.

The second-floor layout of the "Staffmark" is offered with either four bedrooms, or with five. In the 4-bedroom plan, the master bedroom is 20 feet x 15 feet in size and features a big walk-in closet, private dressing room and private bath. In the 5-bedroom choice, the master bedroom is a bit smaller but still provides for the same spacious private bathroom. All baths are attractively tiled and lighted, and the large family bath has a double vanity and mirror.

The home also offers insulated glass patio doors opening from the family room, full all-weather insulation, natural wood grain interior trim and doors, underground utilities, etc.

The "Staffmark" and other models in Carlisle are open to inspection daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Nelson Realtors Set Sales Record and.

Robert L. Nelson Realtors has offices in Arlington Heights, Palatine and now offices in the Robert L. Nelson Building in Mount Prospect, replacing the older Robert L. Nelson office in that village.

A record 621 home sales representing a sales volume of $18,873,421.00 was recently announced by Robert L. Nelson, president of Robert L. Nelson, Realtors.

The sales represent exclusives by the organization plus sales in cooperation with M.A.P. Multiple Listing Brokers.

The 621 is a company record, exceeding the previous year's total of 539 home sales, an increase of 15.2 per cent in actual sales and 30.5 per cent in sales volume.

"Our record year in 1967 proves that the Northwest Suburban Area has maintained its reputation as one of Chicagoland's most desirable living areas" says Nelson.

THE CONSTANT flow of executive type buyers and the growth of industry brings many new families to our area every year. The natural beauty, the wonderful schools, parks, shopping and transportation combined with a gracious atmosphere of suburban charm and dignity assures home owners of a consistently high resale value.

"I believe, as do other Realtors in the area, that homes in the Northwest Suburbs will maintain their present value and gradually increase in value. This trend will assure home sellers and buyers of a true dollar value in Northwest Suburban Real Estate for many years to come," Nelson

Burglars Get $4,435 In Jewelry, Clothing From Apartment

Jewelry, clothing and appliances valued at a total of $4,435 were taken this week when the apartment of W.D. Fuke was burglarized while he was out of town.

Fuke, a doctor of veterinary medicine, told Arlington Heights Police he discovered the burglary Thursday evening.

He said he moved into the apartment at 706 E. Algonquin Rd. a week ago and last Monday on a business trip.

Arlington Heights Police, Detectives Michael Sandburg and Ronald Van Klee said the entrance apparently was made by prying the front door from the jamb. They said an attempt was made to remove the door knob from the door.

Fuke, police said, formerly was employed as a distributor of pharmaceuticals, which he sometimes kept in his apartment.

Fuke told police his car was broken into several weeks ago when it was parked at the shelter of O'Hare Motel.

Burglar Lifts Fur Souvenirs, Liquor, Camera

Reeling Meadows Police yesterday investigated a burglary in the home of Arthur Szczepanski, 2114 Brookside Ln.

Police said the back door of the home was pushed in by "brute force," and that among items stolen were a $500 camera, jewelry, several bottles of liquor and an undetermined amount of cash.

Further investigation will be conducted by Cook County Sheriff's Police.

These are kept 6-year-old Roy Schaefer (center) from attending his kindergarten class at Dunbar School, at 3400 S. DuSable. Wednesday one line a cord to kill him they shot. 4 Children Hurt In Rand Rd. Crash

Four children were injured in a three-car collision on Rand Rd., a quarter-mile north of Rte. 68, last night.

The four were driving in the northbound lane in the car driven by Robert O'Hara, 45, of Lake Zurich, Ill.

Ironically, O'Hara and his wife Rose, 36, were driving to the Northwest Community Hospital to have a doctor check their 3-month-old son.

O'Hara said he was driving on Rte. 12, when the next light came and he was in his lights off sitting in the middle of the road.

"We slowed into it, and then I saw a car coming from behind. I told my wife to brace herself. The boy found in plowed into it."

One infection he already had, he said.

Mrs. O'Hara, whose face hit the windshield, said "I'm alright. I'm more worried about the kids."

O'Hara, who works for Deere-Detroit Vehicle Machine Manufacturers, Chicago, was a bus driver. He said "My route was along R. 12."

O'Hara will be tried Mar. 25 to the Mount Prospect Branch of Circuit Court.

BOLI Urges Private Contracts for Street Improvement Projects

By Charles Mountaine

The Board of Local Improvement last night urged home owners of the Arlington Highlands subdivision to unite in private contracts to contract for $250,000 in improvements.

In a private contract, the property owners involved decide among themselves how to spend costs and whether to contract the project through the village.

In a special assessment, BOLI appoints a special committee who spreads the cost of the improvements.

Magnolia St. to White Oak St., including water main extension and services, $55,250. Vail Ave. - from Central Rd. to White Oak St., including sanitary sewer, water main and service south of Magnolia, $49,900. Highland Ave. - from Central Rd. to White Oak St., $19,750. Walnut Ave. - from Central Rd. to White Oak St., $19,750.

If the property owners of any of the plans of a private contract agree on a private contract BOLI usually will order a special assessment which usually costs considerably more.

BOLI last night had an informal public hearing to acquire property owners of the area, the project before the legally-required public hearing. The informal hearing is offered by the board as a courtesy.

The improvements include paving and placing curbs, gutters and sewers and water main extension.

At the formal public hearing, board members will try to decide which parts of the program will go ahead. It is expected that, unless a good reason for changes is given, the program will remain as proposed.

Ridge Vacation Depends On Successful Park Vote

The proposed vacation of Ridge St. in Arlington Heights is tied to a successful referendum of the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvement on indoor swimming pool at Arlington High School.

The referendum is scheduled for the next election in the village of Arlington Heights.

Three taxing bodies, the village of Arlington Heights, the Arlington Heights Park District, and the Arlington Heights School District, are tied to the referendum.

At 214 are trying to work out a compromise to a community swimming pool. The pool would be built at the high school and would be available for park recreation programs and the school district physical education program.

Last night more than 25 people attended a meeting of the public advisory committee of the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvement.

Charles Cronin, president of the park district, said that the park district and the school district are tied to the referendum.

The referendum, organized by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvement, will meet Thursday for the first time.

Representative of the high school education said Arlington High School needs additional physical education facilities. Park board representatives said the school is located in the central part of the village for easy access.

The pool also would be used by students in the other district, 214 schools, Prospect, Forest View, Whetzel, El Grove and John Henry.

The park district owns five acres of land at the Forest View Park School and plans to purchase approximately five acres at the Henry site. Cronin said neither the school nor the park district would be liable for a community swimming pool at this time.

Jaycees Back Dist. 25 Tax Hike in Referendum

The Arlington Heights Jaycees support a tax increase this year for Dist. 25 public schools if the funds are needed to maintain streets and to provide funds to staff and operate new school rooms.

President Bill Burroughs announced the club's decision today. "We have full confidence in the Dist. 25 Board of Education. It is in the best interest of the school board, the Jaycees have acted before Dist. 25 has formally asked for a tax increase and set a date for a referendum.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT they followed a meeting of the club directors this week. The directors discussed the plans, confirming Dist. 25 schools. Alan N. Swanson, president of the Greenview School in Arlington Heights and a member of the Jaycees, was asked to report on the July 4 celebration plans also were discussed at this week's Jaycee board meeting.

Pupils at Our Lady of the Wayside School in Arlington Heights are talking about authors Thackeray, Poe and Stevenson in their spare time.

They are the 150 pupils enrolled in the Junior Great Books program at the school. Our Lady of the Wayside maintains 12 separate discussion groups, the largest number of groups in one school in the United States. Pupils in the fifth through eighth grade participate in the program.

and a fifth grade discussion on "Arabian Nights" by Smolke and Dison.

THE PUPILS say that they like to read and have little difficulty in keeping up with the Great Books assignments. They read after school, on weekends, and before bed time.

The leader can tell if you didn't read the book, said Patricia Reardon, 11.

"If you didn't read it you don't participate enough and you don't understand the book to be able to ask questions," she said.

"You have to back up your statements," said Carol Johnson, 11, of 1209 W. Grove.

"There aren't really any answers, right or wrong. It's just our own opinions. Sometimes you change your opinion from one discussion," said Nancy Condon, 12, of 315 W. Fairview.

Preteen Fashions at Miner Jr. High

By MARILYN HELPERS

Women's Editor

Fashions for pre-teens — and you can make them yourself. Junior high girls at Miner Junior High were treated to a special fashion show Wednesday featuring only clothes for them.

Miss Sarah McKinley from Simplicity Pattern Company narrated the show and the girls from Miner were the models. (Similar shows were presented at South Junior High and Dempster Junior High.) Miss McKinley captured the full attention of her hearers and held it through the show.

CONTRARY to what many moms may think, these pre-teens were VERY interested in what's new in fashion—and in the good grooming tip, suggested by Miss McKinley.

There are three feet on the fashion podium," she said. "The first one is good grooming—from the tip of your hair to your toes." News in hair fashions (Now hear this, mom!) is the curly look, the very straight look is O.K., but the curly look is THE look.

Hair should, of course, be more casual for school, something the junior miss can take care of herself, and the more elaborate curls are for dinner occasions. Two of the models had curls reminiscent of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," which according to the young hair experts can be obtained with rollers or rags.

Now on to the toes—shoes should always be shown with the outfit, said Miss McKinley.

SECOND on the fashion podium is knowing what's new in fashion. The spring look—more flow-line, of belted or paneled and flared (fitted at the top and flared skirt-colored and textured knit to match your outfit or shoes).

The third foot on the podium is YOU—what color, texture and fabric to use for your personality. And most important is your posture. This caused a two minute pause as chairs were placed, and the entire audience, would you believe, sat up straight in their chairs!

Woman's Club To Present Scholarships

A scholarship program for DuS 21 students who reside in Arlington Heights is again being offered by the Arlington Heights Women's Club.

The necessary application forms for the supplementary scholarships may be obtained by students in the graduating class from the high school college counselor at Arlington High School, Prospect High School, Wheeling High School and Forest View High School.

It is suggested that students apply as early as possible. Application forms should be completed and returned to the high school college counselor no later than March 28, 1968.

Students interested in a four-year college, junior college, technical school, an institute or music career will be considered. This is the first time the club has included technical schools.

The Woman's Club has given supplementary scholarships for several years with funds raised from the annual "Cards for Scholars" card party, a portion of the used book sale each year and from the club sponsored bridge tournaments.

New Arrivals
John Thomas, 6 pounds 1 ounce, was born Jan. 3 at Northwestern Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Steven Bankowitz of Arlington Heights.

Highly, John has three brothers: Steven, 12; Michael, 10; William, 9; and two sisters: Susan, 7, and Julie, 4. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Waldmeyer of Chicago.

Steve Albert, 6 pounds 5 ounces, was born Jan. 18 at Lutheran General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. S. Frank Klein Jr. of Mount Prospect.

Rita Chalk, 6 pounds 2 ounces, was born Jan. 22 at Lutheran General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen Applegate of Arlington Heights. Christian Alan, 7 pounds 13 ounces, was born Jan. 23 at Lutheran General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. James O. Heckard of Mount Prospect.

Miss McKinley introduced the first group of models and the "Snap Into Shape" fashion show began. ("Two young gentlemen" volunteers kept their "eyes right" during the entire show as they admired the models from the stage.)

"This new thing is pattern will make you to buy the same size pattern as dress size in a ready-to-wear," said Miss McKinley. "If you have any questions about size, you should compare your measurements with those in the back of the pattern book."

Colors for spring—violet, pink, lemon yellow—will be worn with a touch of white, white in stripes, flowered prints or bright solids. Colors and cuffs, belts and head of white sprays on spring green solids and prints.

"Fit for Fun" size-up idea for most sportswear in mini length. Impulsive and spontaneous play-up hardware touches on leg bright prints that signal fashion success. The wrap-around game has more players than ever before as dresses with three erasables join the skirts to wrap up sportswear fashion.

COORDINATES are the key to stretching the wardrobe. A brown suit with a bonus pendant and a white dress and jacket come a long way. Add stripes for a color and checks for a dressy look. Turquoise and lime green team up for evening ash special occasions. A soft feminine look comes into play when turquoise taffeta is covered with airy white lace for the baby doll look.

How did the audience like the show? Miss McKinley was stopped after the show by several junior high girls who complimented her on her attractive outfit and told her how much they "loved" the show. The return of the patterned skirt was received with a few disapproving growls. But the curly look one piece mini with very short straight hair looked up at Miss McKinley and asked "You mean even if you have short hair like mine you can really have curls?" (She might need some help with the ring-mom)

Right—Neutral colors are important in a coordinated wardrobe. Modeling Simplicity Patterns are: Val Polanco, Terry Hottel; Nancy Harter and Peggy Anderson.

Football Franchise Here in '68 Unlikely, CFLS Head Says

BY RALPH NOVAK

A Central States Football League franchise for the Northwest suburban area to replace the one that was in place in 1960 season, league commissioner Herb F. Weber said Thursday.

In a phone interview, Weber said that even if a franchise were immediately granted for the area, another acceptable franchisee would be hard to find by the time the league is ready to begin play in 1968.

Having met last week with CFLS team owner who has promised to support a franchise for this area, Weber said Thursday he is confident of getting into the league but conceded he is "unconcerned" about getting in this season.

While he didn't mention the prospect of creating an odd number of teams in the league, Brennan did state another possible roadblock. The league is now negotiating a contract for televising of its games, and there is doubt about the strength of the rights at Arlington High School's stadium, where the Travelers played during their previous season.

WEBER CONFIRMED that the league is looking for a television contract as well as a book-up with one of the professional football's major networks. He said he would prefer to start playing in 1968 to give the Travelers time to build a financial interest in the franchise but he would be willing to start playing in 1967.

Travelers around the preserve had a financial interest in the franchise but he would be willing to start playing in 1967.

St. Francis Wrestles Lions Down, 29-17

In a close battle with the coach John Zed called "one of the toughest I've ever seen," St. Francis of Wheaton, and dropped a 29-17 wrestling match Thursday.

Not only was the Lions' 180-pound freshman line, Ed Klingberg, pinned, but 112-pound Mike Cunningham, St. Francis' captain, was held to a draw in the first match, all season he hasn't won.

THE Lions had pins by Bill Hitzman at 127 pounds and Mike Kelley at 137, but lost the last three matches after falling to win at 180 when Larry O'Connell won at 145 pounds and Gino Cipriani won a draw at 155.

The loss dropped the Lions' record in 1967 overall, but they still have a chance to win the championship in St. Patrick's 4-2-1.

St. Victor's sophomores also lost to St. Francis Thursday.

DOE WRIGHT AND JACK BASTABLE

Wildcat Guards Share Honor

It would make no sense to separate Wheeling basketball guards Jack Bastable and Doe Wright. They would be inseparable as the Wildcat guards. Bastable and Wright, both juniors, were the ring leaders last weekend as Wheeling won Arlington and Prospect created a Wildcat-Kingston tie for first place in the Mid-Suburban League.

WRIGHT, who started the season as a junior varsity player, scored 20 points against Arlington and 22 against Prospect, added four assists in the two games, and made five steals from the Kinghens. Bastable, who started the season with a reputation as an outstanding football player, scored 10 points against the Cards and 19 against Prospect, had one assist, and complemented Wright's lacery against the Kinghens with three steals of his own.

The weekend action brought Bastable's season scoring average to 15.6 points per game and Wright's to 16.0. In addition, Bastable is averaging 3.2 assists a game and Wright 3.0.

Wheeling coach Mike Owen describes his real-life crumple game this way: "Jack is a boy who has a lot of natural athletic ability - great strength, tremendous pair of hands, and good quickness - and with him it's a question of getting the ability to the sport he's in at the moment."

"Doe, on the other hand, doesn't possess a touch of natural talent, but he has tremendous desire and hard working, improved his game more than anybody on our squad."

WRIGHT SAYS he's resigned to his own nickname, "Doe," noted on him earlier this year by Ted Ecker, both right and left hand coach (Bastable, explaining the nickname, says "Doe" is his natural, and then gives a slightly exaggerated demonstration of Wright's waddling walk.)

kind of athlete who'll fight you to the last dog gone home."

"HE THINKS basketball all the time on the floor, and he's like a natural leader that he has taken on the floor," Owen says. "The kids respect him so much that even if he didn't score a point he'd be a big asset."

"Each of the other coaches in our system who had Dunn as a freshman, sophomore, and JV, they have recommended him highly, and each of them has helped him tremendously," Owen says. "Now, he's becoming more and more of a complete guard every day."

While Wright didn't start playing basketball until he was in seventh grade, Bastable had the advantage of having a basketball playing older brother, Tom, a stand-out with the "Cat" last season, and of growing up in St. Louis, where first-graders sometimes have difficulty remembering if it was George Washington or Bob Pease who was the first president.

BASTABLE, who was an all-conference running back and earned two All-State of the Week awards last football season, has the talent "to improve naturally on defense," Owen says.

His out-of-shooting, however, needed work - and got it. Bastable doesn't hesitate to shoot the 20-foot now, and his season's shooting percentage - .399 on 63 field goals in 208 tries - is still respectable, and getting better, standing at 405 for the "Cat" last night.

and establishing himself as the MSJ's eighth leading scorer. STEVE BALINSKI, the mascot of the St. James eighth grade basketball team and last becoming the Harold Bauman of the Athletes of the Week note, who scored 10 points in leading his team to 32-27 win over St. Raymond of Mount Prospect.

All area students are eligible for the Athlete of the Week award. Nominations, which can be anonymous, should be made to The Day's Arlington Heights Ad. 60005 by mail, in person, or by phoning 555-7624. Nominations for the previous week's award should be made by midnight Monday.

Wright says the toughest player he's found this season is Elk Grove's Tom Pomey, while Bastable cited Arlington's Jim Baumgartner - "he's as close to the floor as I can dribble about two inches off the court."

Bastable has probably seen the best of Baumgartner this season, but Wright will have to contend with Pomey once more, when Wheeling visits Elk Grove in its final league game.

Other nominations for this week's Athlete of the Week award, off-again, St. Victor basketball guard who was on last weekend, scoring 34 points in the Lions' upset victory over St. Ignace and adding 11 more Saturday against Dan Stumpf.

ARLINGTON, 145-pound "wonder" who led his weight division in the Mid-Suburban League by earning 20 points on the conference scene and ended the conference schedule with a 16-2 win at St. Ignace.

TERRY HOLSHOUSE, the undefeated 127-pound wrestler star of MSJ, champion Prospect, who led his weight with a 7-0 record and 23 points, polishing off his wrestling star with a 5-2 win over Holt Aerie of Palestine.

JOHN KAWY, a forward, who scored 27 points against St. Ignace and 17 against St. Francis last weekend, helping the "Cat" to a split.
